2nd operation
successful;
boy breathes
on his own now

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Christopher J. Wall, Jr., born seven months ago with his heart outside his chest, has undergone a successful second major operation that has freed him from a mechanical lung and started him on the way to a normal life.

The surgery 15 days ago expanded his chest, providing room for the heart and lungs. The boy has been breathing on his own since Tuesday.

A 10-member team at Children's Hospital headed by surgeon in chief

C. Everett Koop performed the operation, which was first disclosed Friday.

"We've done all the parts of the Feb. 18 operation before, so we had experience," said Koop. "But we had never before done all of them in the same patient, on the same day."

The boy, only child of Christopher and Teresa Wall of Camden, N.J., was born with a defect called ectopia cordis. About 70 cases have been recorded in medical literature and no baby has survived more than two days.

The first operation hours after birth made medical history. In it the protruding heart was covered by a layer of skin, but left outside the ribs.

"The second operation had none of the scares of the first," said Dr. Robert G. Ketrick, who handled the anesthetic. "We had a heart-lung machine and its team standing by, but they weren't needed."

Koop said Christopher's small chest prevented proper breathing and forced him to be a prisoner to the mechanical lung.

The child was born without a sternum, or breastbone, that connects the ribs. The ribs grew without allowing enough room to let the lungs operate or provide space for the heart.

The second surgery forced the front edges of the ribs farther apart, to make the chest cavity larger, and allow the heart to settle in.

It also placed the necessary shield over the heart, still covered only by skin, and protected the heart from being chafed as it rubbed against the skin shield in its normal pumping action. This was done by placing a flexible Dacron patch over the heart.

Dr. Naresh C. Saxena, a heart surgeon who had performed the first operation on Christopher, was Koop's chief assistant.

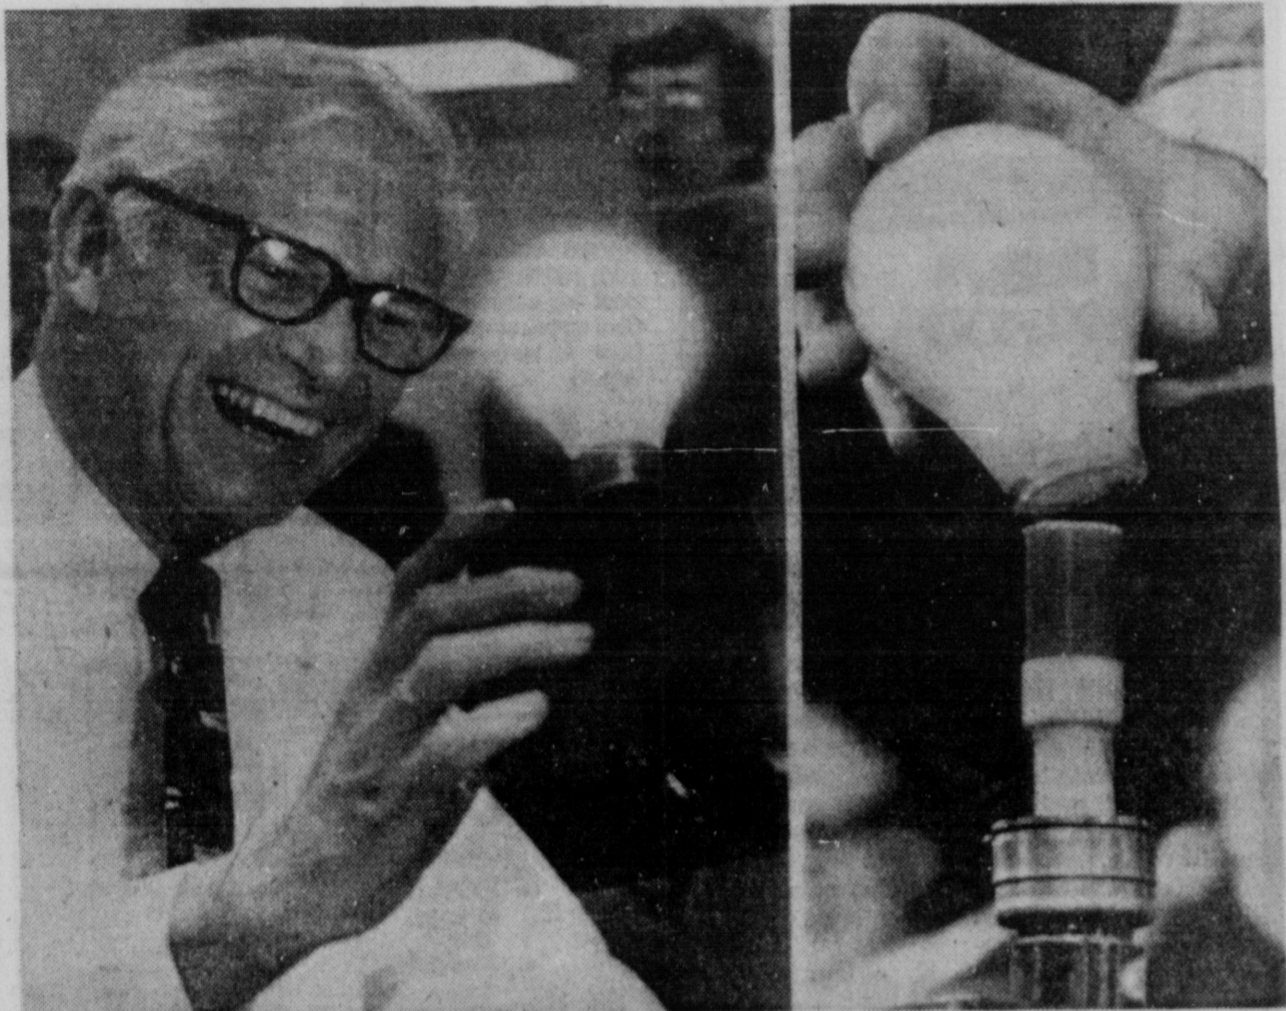

Christopher still breathes 48 to 50 times a minute, which is a little fast. But that's expected in his condition.

"Unless something unforeseen happens, I think the baby is on the road to recovery now," Koop said.

Dr. Robert Seaman, administrator, Energy, Research and Development Administrator, looks at a new fluorescent 'Litek' bulb that resembles an incandescent bulb, during a Washington D.C. news conference Friday.

Unlike the incandescent bulb, the Litek has no hot filament. It has a cool magnetic coil, right, that is energized by an electronics package. The bulb can last five years and possibly a decade.

Ford to 'streamline' farm policy, also proposes estate tax reductions

SPRINGFIELD, ILL. (AP) — President Ford announced Friday that a new high-level farm policy board will be headed by the secretary of agriculture and include three other Cabinet members.

The President said the new arrangement, which replaces other lower level farm policy groups scattered about the administration, would streamline and coordinate farm policy making.

"This committee will consolidate all agricultural policymaking functions of existing executive branch committees," Ford said. "It will have the central role in the development and direction of our nation's food policies."

Estate tax reductions also proposed by Ford on Friday would cut the amount Americans pay on inheritance taxes by as much as $1.1 billion a year when it becomes fully effective in five years.

In a speech to farmers in Springfield, Ford proposed an increase in the estate tax exemption from the present $60,000 to a new level of $150,000.

"Along with my tax deferral proposal, this exemption increase should help owners of family farms and businesses to hand them down from generation to generation without the forced liquidation which is now too frequent," Ford said.

$70 million paid out by Boeing Co.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States proposed Friday an international agreement in the United Nations to put a stop to corporate bribery of government officials around the world.

The announcement was made officially by Deputy Secretary of State Robert W. Ingersoll, who said the U.S. government will soon transfer information sought by governments in Japan and elsewhere about bribes offered by the Lockheed Aircraft Co. to increase sales.

Ingersoll also said that recent unsubstantiated allegations against foreign government officials have done grievous damage to the foreign relations of the United States.

He said that neither he nor the government condones bribery by U.S. corporations overseas.

"On the other hand, it is a fact that public discussion in this country of the alleged misdeeds of officials of foreign governments cannot fail to damage our relations with these governments," he said.

Meanwhile, the Boeing Co. acknowledged it has made commission payments of $70 million to nations with overseas sales during the last five years and that some of them may be considered questionable.

James Prince, Boeing's senior vice president, said in Seattle the company made some contributions to foreign political parties but he insisted they were all made according to the law of the country involved.

Prince said none of the payments were bribes because those receiving the money were not in a position to influence aircraft sales. He did not explain why they were paid.

Car crashes down cliff; man killed

One man was killed and another was injured Friday when their sports car crashed down a 300-foot cliff on Mt. Baldy Road.

Highway Patrol officers identified the dead man as Richard Lund, 24, of 4652 Cogswell, El Monte, and the injured man as Ronald A. Shilver, 30, of 2004 Exmoor, Glendora.

Officers said Lund was driving southbound on Mt. Baldy Road north of the tunnel area when the car swerved off the roadway for unknown reasons, striking a power pole and crashing down a steep embankment more than 300 feet.

The crash apparently ejected both men from the car and it tumbled down the cliff, but other motorists continued to pass by the site, unaware an accident had occurred.

It wasn't until almost an hour after the 11:30 a.m. accident that Shilver climbed back up to the roadway.

Bombs rip buildings; terrorists are sought

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Two bombs apparently planted by terrorist groups shattered buildings in San Francisco and Palo Alto early Friday, causing an estimated $100,000 damage, authorities said.

The twin bombings were the first since radicals threatened renewed violence after the FBI arrested a group of alleged terrorists at a makeshift bomb factory in Richmond on Feb. 21.

The Red Guerrilla Family claimed responsibility for one blast, and an underground source said the New World Liberation Front was responsible for the other. Little is known about the size or composition of either group. Both groups have claimed setting other bombs within the last two years.

The first explosion, at 1:04 a.m., ripped through a maintenance building at the Hunter's Point San Francisco Housing Authority office, causing about $20,000 damage, said Peter Trimble, assistant executive director for the Housing Authority.

$1.2 million awarded to injured valley man

A Glendale Superior Court jury Friday awarded $1.2 million in damages to a Chino man who severely injured his leg while working as an iron worker foreman on a freeway bridge construction job near Lancaster in 1971.

The judgment went to Malcolm Meyers, 35, who injured his leg in an eight-foot fall Oct. 15 of that year. The trial lasted five days in the court of Judge Wesley Reed and was before a jury of six men and six women.

The jury agreed unanimously on the amount but nine held that Meyers had been 10 per cent responsible for his injury — a decision which reduced a higher judgment that much. Jury members pondered the verdict 2½ days. Claremont attorney Herb Hafif, who represented Meyers, charged the Griffith Construction Co. and the State of California, with negligence in Meyers' fall, but the jury found the claim true only against the company.

As a result of the accident, Hafif told the jury, Meyers lost two years' work, remains in pain and faces future operations which are risky because following the mishap he contracted osteomyelitis, a bone infection. In addition he can bend the injured left leg only about 30 degrees and has to wear 2½-inch lift on his left heel.

After attending a state rehabilitation program Meyers went into the automobile brake and tire business in Chino, a venture Hafif said has been marginal.

Meyers was crossing a wooden plank at the construction site when the plank teetered and fell. He underwent seven operations, was in full body cast for four months, spent $21,000 on medical bills and faces probably $100,000 in future medical expenses, the lawyer claimed.

Smog officials dispute ARB claims against Standard Oil pollutants

By JON MORRIS
PB Staff Writer
Pollutants leaking from a Standard Oil refinery in El Segundo are not even close to the high quantity cited by the state Air Resources Board, Southern California smog control officials charged Friday.

A spokesman for the Southern California Air Pollution Control District told the district's governing board, meeting in Pomona City Council chambers, that preliminary data shows the amount of pollutants escaping from Standard's storage tanks is 3 1/2 times less than the ARB claimed.

The ARB charged last month that hydrocarbon vapor leakage from Standard's floating roof storage tanks equals all pollutants from 378,000 automobiles in the Southland annually. ARB officials also said the tanks, unchecked for years, emit 13,700 pounds of emissions per day.

But Robert Murray, a SCAPCD engineer, said preliminary inspections for the past few days indicate emissions total 4,000 pounds a day.

A team of inspectors from the ARB and SCAPCD visited refineries of Standard, Mobil, Texaco and Atlantic Richfield in the South Bay area, Murray reported. Out of 41 storage tanks inspected at Standard, 33 of them had "gaps" in the roof, he said.

Of 14 tanks inspected at Texaco, one had a gap; 12 of 35 had gaps at Mobil and eight of 51 had gaps at ARCO.

Violation notices will be issued to those refineries breaking existing rules covering "vapor losses," said J.A. Stuart, the SCAPCD's chief air pollution control officer.

He said that revocation of permits, abatement orders and civil action could be taken against violators. The SCAPCD board has scheduled a hearing in May on the matter, but action would be taken by the district in the interim, Stuart stated.

The board, made up of supervisors from Los Angeles, San Bernardino, Orange and Riverside counties, took no action Friday.

Los Angeles County Supervisor Peter Schabarum was critical of the ARB, but the other supervisors reserved any strong criticism.

"I want to know what it's costing for this little exercise," said Schabarum. "At the end of this, I'll send a bill to Tom Quinn (ARB director)."

"Personally, I'm perturbed that Mr. Quinn is politicizing in an area that is very complicated, and hard to convey solutions to the public. This latest exposure represents one per cent of the problem of hydrocarbons in the air."

Riverside County Supervisor Alfred McCandless seemed to differ with Schabarum. "I can't dispute the fact there were violations of the rules. I'm trying to get along with the ARB, and keep the political arena part to a minimum."

At doctors' seminar

Lawmakers talks are called legal

The State Fair Political Practices Commission said four Southern California legislators who took or were offered $1,000 for speaking at a doctors' seminar violated no law.

But the same commission reached no decision on whether to pursue the similar cases of five other legislators, including Assemblyman William Lancaster, R-62nd Dist.

Lancaster said he was aware the commission was looking into the matter. "Everything was fully reported and the report was according to the commission's own regulations," he added.

The question raised was whether the $1,000 is a proper payment for one speech or is really a gift. The question wasn't answered.

The commission also failed to answer the question whether the speaking fees should be considered as income or gifts.

A spokesman said the commission, on a 3-0 vote in closed session, decided that payments made to Sen. Robert Presley, D-Riverside; and Assemblyman Paul Bannai, R-Gardena, Julian Dixon, D-Los Angeles and Gary Hart, D-Santa Barbara, has not been arranged by a lobbyist.

All nine spoke on invitation last October at a seminar in Los Angeles, sponsored by the California Medical Association.

Other legislators on which no decision was reached are senators John Stull, R-Escondido and Newton Russell, R-Glendale, and assemblyman Paul Priolo, R-Pacific Palisades and Frank Vicencia, D-Bellflower.

In the case of Presley, who returned the check uncashed after asking the commission unsuccessfully for advice, the commission said that "persons who seek timely advice from the commission staff in good faith and shape their conduct accordingly" don't violate the law.

Presley said after the decision that it hasn't really clarified anything. "I trust their staff may now get around to answering my original inquiry, something they have neglected to do in their apparent zeal to make a case regardless of the facts," he added.

It's Reagan, so it's O.K.

BERKELEY (AP) — An exception for the late-applying son of presidential candidate Ronald Reagan was made by the University of California's admissions office, a university spokesman said Friday.

Ronald "Skip" Reagan Jr., the former California governor's 18-year-old son, applied eight days late for admission next fall to the Berkeley campus.

Late-filing applicants usually are informed that the campus is full and the application is forwarded to another campus.

But when a campus clerk noticed Reagan's family name and his father's occupation listed as "presidential candidate," it was passed on to the assistant vice chancellor of student affairs.

SHERRY BOYD

Missing girl, 17, sought

The parents of a 17-year-old Pomona girl, missing since Feb. 19 when she left for Pomona High School, have asked the public for assistance in helping locate the girl.

She is Sherry Boyd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Boyd of 311 Cameron Ave.

Sherry was last seen by her parents when she left for school that morning. The following day she telephoned her mother from Riverside, saying she had hitchhiked there. Since then her parents have not heard from her.

Mrs. Boyd said Sherry is 5 feet 1, weighs 110 pounds, has brown hair and blue eyes. She took no clothing and had no money when she left. She was wearing brown slacks, a beige top, moccasins, a leather wrist band and a cross necklace.

Mrs. Boyd said the family has lived in the area only four months. Anyone with information about Sherry's whereabouts was asked to call the Boyds at 593-4648 or the Pomona Police Department.

Valley home hit by blaze

Foothill Fire District inspectors are attempting to determine the cause of a blaze Wednesday that did an estimated $2,500 in damage to a home at 8644 Arrow Highway, Cucamonga.

According to fire inspectors, the fire may have destroyed several thousand dollars in checks and cash as well. The fire was first reported about 3 p.m. by Hilarián Sanchez, the owner of the home. The Sanchez family attempted to control the fire with a garden hose. When firemen arrived the flames had spread from a bedroom closet into two other bedrooms destroying much of their contents.

Contract awarded

The General Dynamics Corp. has received a $10.4 million contract to engineer and develop the new Viper anti-tank missile at its Pomona plant.

The U.S. Army contract calls for all work on the new and improved weapon to be performed in the local facility, said Rep. Jim Lloyd, D-35th Dist.

Recess called

The West Valley Superior Court jury in the murder trial of Gene Autry Jefferson of Ontario will resume deliberations Monday.

It was recessed Friday at 4 p.m. by Judge James Cunningham after two days of deliberations.

Jefferson is accused of killing his brother-in-law, Elton Lee, last Aug. 23, in an Ontario bar.

Needs special brain surgery

Fund for Kim Ayers grows

There now is $1,048 in the Kimberly Ayers Benefit Fund.

Kimberly Ayers, 15, a dystonia patient at Angel View Crippled Children's Hospital in Desert Hot Springs, is receiving quite a lift from the fund drive, reports her mother, Mrs. Faye Barnes of Pomona.

"Kim is rigid now," said Mrs. Barnes, "and the doctors said again Friday that her condition is deteriorating. But she is in good spirits. She knows what is happening and she is excited about it."

Mrs. Barnes, on Jan. 21, made a public plea in the Progress Bulletin for money to fly Kim to St. Barnabas Hospital in Bronx, N.Y., for brain surgery by Dr. I. S. Cooper.

She estimates $10,000 will be needed and anyone wishing to donate may mail checks to the Kimberly Ayers Benefit Fund, Angel View Crippled Children's Hospital, 12379 Miracle Hill Road, Desert Hot Springs.

Dystonia, a relatively rare brain disorder, has robbed Kim of muscle control, Mrs. Barnes said. The girl, who was born in Pomona and was a fourth grader at Washington Elementary School when she became ill, is confined to bed or a wheelchair. She underwent brain surgery at UCLA when she was 12. After that surgery she lost her speech, Mrs. Barnes said.

Engineers find troublesome sand layer under Prado Dam

A core sample taken at Prado Dam near Chino shows a layer of sand deep under the foundation that could slip should an earthquake occur while it was "supersaturated," said the U.S. Corps of Engineers.

But officials believe such a possibility is so remote they don't plan to take any immediate corrective action unless other dam work is directed.

The corps has prepared a plan to enlarge the dam and its spillway to handle flood waters that could reasonably be expected within the valley.

Should Congress approve the project, this would require reconstruction of the foundation, they added. Engineers propose to increase the dam height by 30 feet and make the spillway one-third larger.

If Congress authorizes the project, then the corrective work will be done. But if not, the corps will take a further examination to see if the project is worth the funds to relieve a problem with a low probability, they added.

The proposed dam work has been sent to Washington, D.C., where it will be viewed by various agencies before being submitted to Congress.

Attached to the Prado Dam proposal is a recommendation to construct another dam near the Redlands Airport to store runoff water and also to improve the channel between the Prado Dam and the Pacific Ocean.

When the Prado Dam was constructed in 1941, no one could forecast the amount of development in the valley, officials said. Also, more information has been obtained about potential storms, they added.

Based on new studies, officials said they discovered the Prado Dam may be too small to control a flood that could reasonably occur in the valley.

Should a major storm occur, Prado could have an uncontrolled flow of water over the spillway that could cause damage to Orange County, they added.

The Prado Basin stores excess water from an area extending from Cajon Pass to the edge of Los Angeles County.

Filing period opens for iffy election—if trustees recalled

A filing period is open until March 19 for candidates who want to run in the Claremont School District recall election May 18 to succeed a particular school board member, should that member be recalled.

Candidates may file their declaration of candidacy at the county Registrar of Voters Office, 808 N. Spring St., Los Angeles.

Candidates may also submit statements of qualifications, which will be translated into Spanish, and for which they will be billed.

Candidates will be referred to a campaign reporting unit where officials will decide what financial statements must be filed.

Seeking their recall is the Claremont Committee for Recall, which has put up a slate of candidates of its own: Robert Stafford, Mrs. Marilyn Tipping and Joseph Hough.

1,177 volunteer for jury

A total of 1,177 residents of Los Angeles County have volunteered for nomination for a year's service on the 23-member Los Angeles County Grand Jury, Presiding Superior Court Judge Robert A. Wenke said today.

Last year, nearly 900 persons volunteered for service on the panel. It was the first year that volunteers had been sought. This year's filing deadline was Feb. 27.

The Grand Jury is composed of 23 persons whose names are drawn by lot from the list of volunteers and the nominations by the 171 judges of the court system. Each judge may nominate two persons.

The Grand Jury serves a year and investigates county government and considers evidence for possible indictments in certain felony crimes.

Condominium plan criticized in Claremont

It's back to the drawing board for P. E. Howard Construction Corp. which is proposing a build a 143-home condominium development northwest of Foothill and Claremont boulevards, Claremont.

Members of the Planning Commission and Architectural Commission pointed out to the firm's architect this week their concerns about the largest proposed residential development in Claremont in many years.

The commissioners heard the concerns of the Police and the Fire departments about the problems of access into the green belt or pathway system between the houses.

Police said that the long pathway system would not permit effective police patrol and surveillance of either the residential units or the open space. According to police, a similar patrol problem now exists at the Westarms complex at San Jose Avenue and Indian Hill Boulevard where outsiders are using community pools and disturbing residents.

Both Fire and Police departments expressed concern that several means of access be possible for emergency vehicles into the pool and cabana areas.

Public Works Director Donald King pointed out what streets should go through the 29-acre tract to handle properly the traffic generated. King said that it would not be illogical for Blaisdell Drive to be extended through the tract if the street were well-designed.

It was noted that children going to school would use Blaisdell Drive or go a more circuitous route.

King recommended that all buildings be at least 50 feet back from the street along Foothill and Claremont boulevards.

He recommended that a berm or heavily landscaped wall be built as a noise buffer along the west side of Claremont Boulevard, and that no driveways be built leading to that street.

King explained to the commissions that the applicant under the present zoning may build 400 apartments instead of the condominium setup.

King said he doesn't think the extension of the frontage road eastward on the north side of Foothill Boulevard would be a good idea.

Howard Construction proposes building the first phase of the project in the northwest area near Blaisdell Drive.

A little more than three acres zoned multiple family along Foothill Boulevard is not included in the present project.

116 pints needed

Blood donations for cancer victim sought

The family of Mrs. Regina Rogers, 36, of Pomona is seeking blood donors to replace 116 pints of blood which have been administered to Mrs. Rogers.

The Pomonan has been a cancer patient at Kaiser Foundation Hospital, Fontana, for nearly a year. She and her husband, Robert, have a small son.

Mrs. Rogers has actually received more blood than the 116 pints, but some has been replaced by family members and friends.

Persons interested in donating are asked to make contributions through the Blood Donor Center at the Ontario YMCA, 315 W. C St., Ontario, on Thursday from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

Donors may also contribute through the Pomona Red Cross Donor Center, 420 N. Reservoir St., Pomona. This center is open on Tuesday from 2 to 6:30 p.m. and Wednesday from 1 to 5:30 p.m. Appointments may be made by calling 629-7455.

Claremont students ready for their first Bloodmobile visit

San Antonio High School health science students under the supervision of teach Hank Moss will sponsor a mini-blood bank at their school in cooperation with the Claremont Red Cross chapter next Friday between 2 and 6:30 p.m.

It will be the first Bloodmobile for youths in the local area.

School District Supt. R. S. Kirkendall in April 1975 gave permission for 17-year-olds to donate blood, with their parents' consent.

Several students and most teachers at San Antonio High gave blood at the last community Bloodmobile.

The consent forms may be obtained at the Red Cross or at San Antonio High.

Mrs. Jane MacLeod, blood program chairman, said she will be able to schedule 70 appointments for donors.

The Bloodmobile is open to district staff members, parents, and all community members.

San Antonio High students are learning about blood and its characteristics through their health science class.

The Red Cross hopes to schedule an excursion for students to visit the Los Angeles-Orange Counties Blood Center in Los Angeles where they can see what happens to donated blood.

Blood drive marks year

Employees and volunteers at Inter-Community Hospital in Covina congratulated themselves on a productive year at the hospital-based blood bank's first anniversary celebration this week.

In an effort to increase blood donations, the hospital donor station opened a year ago and has since been in service every Monday from 2 to 6:30 p.m.

County orders patients out

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Health officials have issued a removal order against 19 wards of an area convalescent home owned by Clarence Firstenberg, a member of the county Mental Health Advisory Committee.

County officials said conditions in the home in the past few weeks have deteriorated "to the extent that lives are in danger."

Michael M. Guariglia, administrator of the Lincoln Care Center, denied the allegation and said the facility for geriatric and mentally disordered patients had already corrected many of the alleged deficiencies.

He kept his eyes open

PUTNAM, Tex. (AP) — Ruel Reynolds, who runs an antique store here in an old 70,000-barrel oil storage tank, always has his eye open for a profit.

On the Monday after Christmas he was on his way to Anson to pick up some items he had purchased at an auction.

He saw lying on the road the body of a coyote that had been killed by a passing motorist. Thinking that it was a traffic hazard — and that the J and L Packing Co. a mile ahead offered to buy pelts or unskinned animals, Reynolds loaded the body into his car. His reward at the packing company was $7.

Eligibility rules eased for Pomona school food aid

Eligibility requirements for free and reduced price meals in Pomona's public schools have been lowered. Previously, eligibility was based on monthly income. Now annual gross income may be used instead.

Also, now any child whose parent or guardian is unemployed is immediately eligible for free or reduced price meals, providing family income during the unemployment period falls within the eligibility scale.

Now children from a family of five (which includes parents) with a monthly gross income of $599 or less are eligible for free meals and free milk at school. This includes breakfast and lunch at the schools where breakfast is served.

Children from the same size family, with a gross monthly income between $600 and $934, are eligible for reduced price meals.

Children from a family of eight (including parents) with a gross monthly income of $816 or less are eligible for free meals and free milk.

Children from this same size family with a gross monthly income between $817 and $1,272, are eligible for reduced price meals.

If a family uses annual gross income to determine eligibility, the criteria is $7,190 for the family of five for free meals and free milk, and up to $11,208 for the same family, for reduced prices.

This allows an additional $750 a year for each family member above old eligibility requirements for free meals and free milk, and $1,170 additional for each family member for reduced price meals.

The family of eight with annual gross income up to $9,790 is eligible for free meals and free milk, and up to $15,264, for reduced price meals.

Slightly more than 70 per cent of the meals served in Pomona's public schools are free or reduced in price. Six of the elementary schools currently have the breakfast program.

All schools in the district participate in the hot lunch and milk program. Some 200,000 meals are served a month.

Food programs are subsidized by the federal government.

Families wishing to enter into the free and reduced price food program for their school-age children may obtain application forms from their school offices.

Under a proposal by the base commander, Capt. Don Pringle, 85 per cent of the civilian workers at Miramar voted to give up a day's vacation pay.

Upland High's Doug Stone applies a hold to Jeff Tracy of Valhalla High during action Friday in State CIF Wrestling Finals at the Cal Poly gym.

Stone decided Tracy 10-0 to advance, and is one of two local wrestlers still active in the tourney.

Coste reaches semifinals

By BRENT SHYER
PB Correspondent

The fourth annual CIF State Prep Wrestling Championships held at Cal Poly's Kellogg Gym Friday and continuing through today may be the largest drawing attraction since the American Freedom Train came to town.

An estimated 3,000 fans took in Friday's mat action. A total of 312 wrestlers from 188 California High Schools are taking part in the event.

Only two of five local grapplers will be participating in today's happenings. Claremont's Randy Coste will take on Eureka's Rocky Harrison in the semifinal round of the championships. Doug Stone, Upland's two-time SAL champion, easily downed Valhalla's Jeff Tracy 10-0, in the 138-pound opening round, but then was pinned by Dave Schultz at 49 seconds of the third period in the second round. Because of that loss, Stone dropped to the consolation bracket.

Montclair's Terry Farley, a two-time SAL champion in the 103-pound class, won a 10-6 decision over Herbert Kimble of Harry Ellis High in the first round, but then was defeated by Adam Cuesta 10-2 in a second-round bout. The loss eliminated Farley from further competition in the meet.

In the 145-pound class, the Hacienda League's only representative, Bob Pleasant decided Highland's Bob Chase 4-1, with a takedown and reversal (each worth two points), in the initial round.

Pleasant, however, lost a major decision to David Snead, 11-3, which ended his stay at the meet.

Probably the local area's biggest disappointment was Claremont's Jeff Whitton, who wrestled twice and lost as many times. In his first-round bout, Whitton was pinned by Norris Williams at 1:45 of the first round. In the consolation bracket, Whitton dropped a 3-0 decision to Chico's Ken Young and was thereby eliminated.

Coste earned a bye in Friday's first-round action because of his Southern Section individual championship last Saturday at Marina High. Coste, who weighs in at 165 pounds, was victorious over David Brouhard by a 4-0 count in a second-round match.

Coste is now 79-9 in his three-season career as a 'Pack matman

Santa Ana demolishes MSAC

By JIM McCONNELL
PB Staff Writer
FULLERTON — Santa Ana College saved its best for last.

The Dons, with a berth in the State JC basketball playoffs at stake, demolished Mt. San Antonio College 93-62 Friday night at the Fullerton JC gym.

The game was never really in doubt after the first four and one-half minutes. In that span the Dons had zipped to a 14-2 lead over an ice-cold Mountie five, a lead which was to hold up for the 40-minute distance.

MSAC made one run at the Dons, closing to within eight at 20-12 and again at 22-14 midway through the first half, but Santa Ana promptly pulled away to a 39-23 halftime advantage.

MSAC's hopes died for good with two minutes gone in the second half, as a goaltending call on star forward Angel Santiago was turned into a six-point play by the Dons.

On that play, Santiago appeared to block Steve Smith's layup attempt cleanly, but fouled Smith with his body in the process. However, the referees saw the play differently, awarding Smith a basket on the goaltending call and a chance for a three-point play on the foul.

The Mounties, already angered at being behind since the opening tipoff, protested the call and forward Tom Pokorski was hit with a technical foul by official Simon Peters.

Thus, in rapid-fire order, Smith hit the free throw from the foul, Howard Avery hit the charity toss resulting from the "T" and Barrie Elliott hit a jump shot on the ensuing Don possession. The six points gave the Dons a huge 47-27 edge and the only question thereafter was whether or not they would reach the century mark in the scoring column.

They didn't, falling seven short, but Don coach Rolland Todd played his subs during the final five minutes of the one-sided affair.

The victory nets Santa Ana a berth in the state playoffs. MSAC and the Dons had tied for the South Coast Conference crown with identical 10-2 records, but Friday night was probably the worst MSAC effort of the year as the Mounties seemed to do little right.

Coach Gene Victor's crew (who ended the year with a 21-7 mark), got the worst of it in every statistical department. The "crusher" in the contest was that the shorter Dons out-rebounded MSAC 46-44.

On the game, the Dons canned 40 of 76 from the floor (most from long range) and netted 13 of 21 free throws. In contrast, the Mounties made only 26 of 68 from the field and 10 of 20 charity tosses.

Blake Taylor, who scored 35 in the Dons' win last week at MSAC, was held to 17 Friday but still led a balanced S.A. attack. Guards Smith and Avery added 15 apiece and center Jim Cunningham had 12 and led the Dons with 11 rebounds.

As usual, Santiago (the SCC's Player of the Year) led the Mountie scoring with 20. However, most of those came after the game was decided.

Center Duane Harding closed out his Mountie career with an impressive 14-point, 13-rebound effort (despite playing most of the second half with four personal fouls), but sophomore Pokorski scored only six, as he missed 12 of 14 field goal attempts.

Sills sets mark in Poly victory

By BILL LANGLEY
PB Sports Editor

NORTHBRIDGE — Senior guard Joe Sills became Cal Poly's all-time career scoring leader here Friday night when he poured in 33 points to lead the Broncos to an easy 92-74 victory over Cal State Northridge.

However, the Broncos fell a game short in the final California Collegiate Athletic Association standings as Cal St. Bakersfield (8-2) wrapped up the title by beating Cal Poly SLO, 81-62 Friday at Bakersfield.

Poly finishes the regular season with a 7-3 CCAA mark and 15-12 overall. Cal St. Los Angeles can tie the Broncos for 2nd place by beating UC Riverside in a home game tonight.

Poly still has an outside shot at getting an at-large berth for the NCAA Division II Playoffs which will be announced Sunday.

Sills sank 14 of 20 field goals and five of six free throws to run his career scoring total of 1,049 points to surpass the previous record of 1,040 set by Paul Scranton in 1966.

Junior forward Jack Gamulin also had a hot hand in scoring 30 points. He made 14 of 21 field goals and two of four free throws. Sills and Gamulin combined for 63 of Poly's 92 points in an overwhelming two-man scoring performance.

Senior forward Paul Newton had an off night in the scoring department with only eight points, but he more than made up for it by grabbing 15 rebounds, nine in the first half.

Sills, who needed 25 to break the record, was in trouble when he was charged with his third foul with 6:46 left in the first half. But he went the rest of the way without picking up another.

It took a big finish for Sills as he had only 14 points with 12:15 left in the game. But he tallied 19 the rest of the way to make sure he is the new school leader.

The 6-3 senior from St. Louis tied the record with 6:29 left in the game and broke it with a soft jumper at the 4:34 mark.

"His accomplishments speak for themselves," Poly coach Don Hagan said. "He came to us as an outstanding shooter and I feel he turned out to be an exceptional team player. His two years with us turned out good for both of us."

When asked about the record, Sills answered, "I never realized there was such a record until three weeks ago. The big thing anyway was winning the league. That's what I wanted the most."

Poly saved one of its most overwhelming performances for the final game on the schedule.

The Broncos outscored the Matadors 14-4 in one stretch to take a commanding 22-13 lead after 10 minutes and Northridge was never able to make a serious threat the rest of the way.

Zarley leads Citrus

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Kermit Zarley, whose career was interrupted by major surgery and whose day's play was interrupted by rain, wearily scrambled home with a six-under-par 66 and a two-stroke lead Friday in the second round of the $200,000 Citrus Open Golf Tournament.

"I was getting awful tired, and there was the pressure, too," Zarley said after he'd put together a 36-hole total of 133, 11 under par for two trips over the rain-lashed, 6,929-yard Rio Pinar Country Club course.

The veteran Zarley, who scored his last individual triumph in the 1970 Canadian Open, came from two shots back to establish his lead over gray-haired, 43-year-old former Masters champion Gay Brewer and Mark Hayes, tied for second at 135 halfway through this event.

Brewer shot a 69 and Hayes, who shared the first-round lead with a 65, slipped to a 70. Both played early in the day and finished well ahead of the torrential rainstorm that halted play for 20 minutes in the late afternoon.

John Mahaffey, with a 67, was at 136. The group at 137, four shots back, included rookie Ed Sabo, Rick Acton, Pat Fitzsimons and Bob Murphy.

Acton shot a 67, Murphy and Sabo 68 and Fitzsimons a 70.

Don January, who has challenged for each of the last three titles, had a 68 and was at 138.

Some of the game's more prominent names had their difficulties, however. Arnold Palmer matched par 72 and had a 146 total. Defending champion Lee Trevino was at 72-147. Tom Weiskopf had 74-146.

All missed the cut for the final two rounds Saturday and Sunday.

Gordien sets national mark

Sophomore Marcus Gordien of Claremont set a new national JC record in the discus throw Friday as Mt. San Antonio College beat Cerritos, 112-33.

Gordien's distance of 189 feet, 10 inches broke the old record of 187 feet, five inches set by Miles Lester of Foothill College in 1963. Gordien also won the shotput with a put of 43 feet, 5 1/2 inches.

"Marcus took it nice and easy in the shotput because he was going to go for the record in the discus," said MSAC coach John North. "It was quite a feat. That record was 13 years old."

Steve Lebovitz won the 100 and 220 for the Mounties and ran the anchor leg in the 440 relay. (Complete listing of times, distances of all events on page 8).

Buena ends Tiger season

VENTURA — Buena's press and abundance of free throws spelled doom for Chaffey High's playoff hopes here Friday night.

The Tigers went down, 64-56, to the tenacious Buena Bulldogs. Chaffey finishes its season with an 18-8 record while Buena (22-6) advances to the semi finals of the CIF 4-A Playoffs against Muir, 71-63 winner over Millikan.

Turnovers and Buena's ability to make free throws in one-and-one situations were the difference. Chaffey was guilty of 25 turnovers (to 10 for Buena).

The Tigers, trailing most of the way and trying to get the ball away from the deliberate styled Bulldogs, were charged with 22 fouls to Buena's 15.

The Bulldogs cashed in on 22 of 35 free throws while the more accurate Tigers made 12 of their 15.

The first and third quarters were the keys. Buena outscored Chaffey, 19-12, as the tigers turned the ball over 10 times against the press.

Down 38-33 at the half, Chaffey cut it to 38-35 on Eric Schessler's bucket 10 seconds into the third period. Then the Tigers turned the ball over five straight times. They didn't get another bucket until Mark McQuaid scored with 1:49 left in the quarter. Buena outscored the Tigers, 10-4, in the period.

The Tigers had gone into a man-to-man defense after the intermission and Buena ate it up. The Bulldogs would pass the ball around and draw the Tigers' out away from the basket and then drive. Keith Level scored eight of his 16 points this way in the quarter.

Chaffey lost two players, guard

Anthony Ramirez and forward John Matke via the foul route in the last two minutes. But the Tigers were already down by 10 points.

McQuaid led the Tigers with 28 points. Anthony Munoz was next with 10. No other Tiger was in double figures.

Buena center Dan Howell, who fouled out with two seconds left, was high scorer in the game with 30 points.

Buena was cold from the floor hitting only 21 of 54 field goals or 39 percent compared to its usual 50 percent mark. Chaffey connected on 22 of 44.

Chaffey (56)	Buena (64)

No progress in BB talks

NEW YORK (AP) — Talks between the baseball players' union and major league owners broke off Friday with no future meetings scheduled as spring training camps remained shut.

Marvin Miller, executive director of the Major League Players Association, announced a press conference for Saturday morning at the Association's New York offices "to set some facts forth."

Miller refused any other comment on the 25th negotiating session between the union and the owners' Player Relations Committee, preferring to wait until the Saturday press conference. "I have no statement at the moment," he said Friday. "I will have one then."

He did add, however, that the statement would be "negative."

That means the training camps, scheduled to open last Monday, will remain closed at least through the weekend.

Hot Goodrich leads Laker scoring burst

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A hot-shooting fourth quarter by Gail Goodrich and the steady play of Kareem Abdul-Jabbar led the Los Angeles Lakers to a 106-99 National Basketball Association victory over the Golden State Warriors Friday night.

Goodrich scored 14 points in a row in the fourth quarter and finished with 36 for the Lakers while Jabbar slipped in 14 points in the second half to finish with 35.

Los Angeles climbed back into second place in the Pacific Division 13 games behind Golden State after Seattle lost to Kansas City to fall one game behind the Lakers.

Rick Barry led Golden State with 35 points, 22 in the first half as the Warriors took a 52-50 halftime lead.

Los Angeles trailed 94-93 in the fourth quarter when Goodrich hit three consecutive jumpers to put the Lakers ahead by five points 99-94.

Golden State was unable to overcome the burst and the Lakers led the rest of the way.

With the Lakers leading 63-57 in the middle of the third quarter Golden State put on a 15-2 blitz, climaxed by Berry's three-point play with 3:14 remaining in the period to give the Warriors a 72-65 lead and seemingly put the Lakers out of the game.

But Los Angeles chipped away and finally took the lead on Jabbar's four-foot hook shot with 10 minutes left in the game, 81-80.

The lead changed hands 12 times in the next six minutes before Goodrich's 12-foot jumper put Los Angeles ahead for the last time 95-94.

Jabbar, playing 46 minutes, made good on 13 of 18 shots from the field.

Los Angeles led for the first 19 minutes before Golden State's Derrek Dickey tied the game 33-33 with a 16-foot bank shot.

Pride is at stake at Pauley

By BILL LANGLEY
PB Sports Editor

LOS ANGELES — Pride is the only incentive for cross-town rivals UCLA and USC when they close the regular basketball schedule in a 3:30 p.m. tipoff today at the Los Angeles Sports Arena.

For UCLA, today's game (Channel 4) serves mainly as a tune-up for the NCAA playoffs which start next Saturday when the Bruins face the Pacific Coast Athletic Association representative at Eugene, Ore.

On the other hand, USC is looking forward to ending its most disastrous basketball season ever.

A win over the Bruins would take away some of the bitter taste of defeat suffered by the Trojans this season.

As usual, UCLA will be heavily favored today. Besides the difference in talent, the Bruins have plenty of momentum now after blasting California and Stanford on the road last week while USC is certainly emotionally drained after losing 14 straight games, 13 in a winless Pacific-8 Conference campaign.

UCLA has already wrapped up its 10th straight Pac-8 championship. The race officially came to an end Thursday night when Oregon nipped Oregon State to end any chances anyone had of catching the Bruins.

"It doesn't matter what happened in Oregon, the USC game is still important to us because of momentum," UCLA Coach Gene Bartow said.

Last week's big victories were a big tonic after the Bruins were whipped by Oregon at Pauley Pavilion two weeks ago. One of USC's biggest moments this season came in a tight 68-62 loss to the Bruins in the first meeting at Pauley Pavilion. However, the frustrations of constantly losing has shaken the Trojans since then.

"The impact of successive losing is beyond comprehension," USC Coach Bob Boyd said. "On the surface, this game appears to be very one-sided. We won't be flat for UCLA but we have a monumental problem after all we've been through in trying to beat one of the finest teams in the nation."

Besides all of the other losing streaks, USC has also dropped 12 in a row to UCLA since 1970. And both Trojan victories over the Bruins in the past decade have been after the Pac-8 race has been decided as it is today.

Sophomore forward Cleve Porter of Pomona's Ganesha High has been playing well for USC since given the opportunity to start last weekend.

Porter responded by scoring 17 and 12 points at Stanford and Cal in making 11 of 17 field goals. The Pomonan is averaging 6.8 points a game in shooting 57.7 per cent.

Titanic today in East

NEW YORK (AP) — "I'd say somebody in the NCAA wants somebody in the East out quick," quipped Frank Alagia, St. John's playmaking guard. "But we're not awed by Rutgers. It's just another big game. The thing that makes it bigger is the tournament draw."

Alagia was putting in perspective the significance of Saturday's climactic clash at Madison Square Garden between unbeaten, third-ranked Rutgers, 27-0, and 16th-ranked St. John's, 23-4, for the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference's New York-New Jersey regional title.

Both teams have been assured berths in the NCAA tournament, but the winner will have a relatively easy assignment, facing unranked Princeton, the Ivy League champion, at Providence, R.I. in an opening round game March 13. The loser, on the other hand, will be given the unenviable task of playing top-ranked, undefeated, Big 10 Conference champion Indiana, 26-0, at South Bend, Ind. in an NCAA first-round game March 13.

"To play Indiana in the first round," said Alagia, "that's rough. I mean, you don't mind meeting them in the final four (the national semifinals), but the first round? That's suicide!"

While Alagia was thinking of the future, his teammate, Glen Williams, was concentrating on the present.

"This is the game we've been prepping for all season," Williams said about the confrontation against one of the nation's top teams with a perfect record. "I'm glad they went through the season undefeated. I didn't want them to lose until they met us."

The long-awaited meeting was set up Thursday night when St. John's and Rutgers won opening-round games in the regional playoff tournament at Princeton. St. John's beat St. Peter's 75-67 and Rutgers man-handled Long Island University 104-76.

The playoff final matches Rutgers, a team with a rapidfire offense that has accumulated 100 or points in 11 games and a ball-hawking defense, against St. John's, a club with a more deliberate style of play.

"They have very good talent," Rutgers Coach Tom Young said of the Redmen. "They're smart physically and won't give a game away. We are really looking forward to it."

"This is the post-season and we have to win from now on," concluded Phil Sellers, the Scarlet Knights' high-scoring forward.

At the same time that Rutgers and St. John's get under way, three other ECAC championship games will be played, with the winners also going into the NCAA for first-round games March 13.

At Springfield, Mass., it will be Connecticut against Providence for the ECAC New England regional championship, with the winner going on to face the winner of the East Coast Conference title at Providence. The ECC playoffs began Friday night at Philadelphia with Hofstra playing Lafayette and Temple against St. Joseph's, Pa. The title game is set for Saturday night.

At Syracuse, N.Y., Niagara will face Syracuse for the ECAC upstate New York championship, with the winner heading for Denton, Tex. and a game against the Southwest Conference champion. Texas A&M, the regular-season SWC champion, will play the winner of Friday night's Arkansas-Texas Tech game at Dallas in the league's playoff title game tonight.

N will wait until Sunday

NEW YORK (AP) — Officials of the National Invitation Tournament decided Friday to hold off choosing any teams for its post-season basketball tourney and wait until Sunday, when virtually all post-season conference tournaments and NCAA playoff berths are determined.

The NIT had said earlier this week that it would begin naming its teams Friday for the 12-team tourney that begins March 13 in Madison Square Garden and ends March 21. But a Garden spokesman said Friday, "We won't have any announcement today and we don't expect any tomorrow. But we hope to have the whole field, or most of it, by Sunday."

Pete Carlesimo, head of the president of the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference and chairman of the NIT Selection Committee, said, "We want to wait until the playoffs are over Saturday so we can have a clearer picture of the teams available."

One of the highly coveted teams already available is 17th-ranked North Carolina State. The Wolfpack was upset by Virginia 75-63 Thursday night in the opening round of the Atlantic Coast Conference post-season tournament.

And North Carolina State, which spurned an NIT bid last year, said it would like to be invited this time.

"It was an emotional decision and not a smart one," Wolfpack Coach Norm Sloan said of the team's rejection of the NIT in 1975. "We lived to regret it if we get a chance this year, we'll go."

Poly spikers enter Relays

Cal Poly's track team will participate in the Long Beach Relays today at Long Beach State while La Verne is slated to open the SCIAAC season.

Pomona-Pitzer and Claremont-Mudd also were scheduled to open the conference season in a double dual meet at Whittier. But the Poet's facility is still rain-soaked and the meet has been postponed.

The schools would like to make it up next Wednesday, but Pomona-Pitzer has another double dual (with La Verne and Caltech) set for that date. If that meet can be moved to Thursday, the double dual at Whittier will be made up Wednesday. If no switch can be made, the Whittier meet may be re-scheduled for next Thursday.

La Verne will be at Occidental today. The Leopards are in a double dual meet with Caltech and the Tigers.

Cal Poly coach Jim George plans to take 19 of his athletes to Long Beach. George expects to do well in the pole vault, high jump, and javelin and to make a good showing in the mile and two mile.

Mark Kegans has gone 15-6 in the pole vault this year; Claude Chumley has high jumped 6-8 1/2 and Tim O'Connor has a 209-11 javelin throw. Those three marks, as well as Paul Nelson's 53.2-second timing in the 440-yard intermediate hurdles, meet NCAA Division II Qualifying standards for the national finals.

Chumley, however, will be up against the likes of world high jump record holder Dwight Stones, who went 7-4 1/2 last week at UC Irvine in his Long Beach State 49er uniform.

University-open competition will begin at 12:30 p.m. Occidental, perennial SCIAAC track king, figures to have no trouble with La Verne and Caltech, traditionally the worst track schools in the conference.

Angels reveal TV schedule

ANAHEIM — Two games against American League champion Boston, five against A.L. West titlist Oakland and four tape-delayed games highlight the California Angels' 1976 television schedule.

A total of 30 road games, including four pre-season telecasts, will be shown on KTLA, Channel 5.

All Angels telecasts, featuring at least one game in each A.L. city, are scheduled on weekends with the exception of Tuesday, May 11 at Oakland.

"We're experimenting with several tape delay telecasts," said Don Patton, Director of Sports Programming for KTLA, "in an effort to bring the games into homes at a more convenient hour for Angels fans."

Three of the four tape delays occur on Friday evenings. Actual starting time (Pacific Time) for the games of April 30 (Cleveland), May 21 (Texas) and July 16 (Baltimore) are 4:30 p.m., 5:35 p.m. and 4:30 p.m. respectively. Each game will be telecast locally at 8 p.m. The fourth tape delay is scheduled for Saturday, September 25 at Minnesota at 11 a.m. Pacific Time.

Sportscaster Dick Enberg once again will be teamed with Don Drysdale and Dave Niehaus in describing Angels action.

The first telecast is scheduled for Saturday, March 13 when California hosts Oakland at Palm Springs.

Angels televised dates during the American League season include three in April, four in May, five in June, July and August, three in September and the final game, October 1 at Oakland.

Writers honor hurlers

Andy Messersmith, Burt Hooton and Frank Tanana are among those players who will be honored at the annual Baseball Writers of America Association dinner at the Disneyland Hotel April 1.

The three were selected by a committee of writers to receive pitching awards for top performances during the 1975 season.

Messersmith and Hooton shared the Dodger award, while Tanana was a singular winner with the Angels.

The 29-year-old Messersmith had what he termed his best season ever and statistics bear him out.

He posted a 19-14 record and had the second best earned run average in the National League at 2.29. He topped the league in starts (40), innings (322), complete games (19) and shutouts (7).

All of these statistics rank as personal highs for the righthander. He finished third in the league in strikeouts (213) and walked only 96.

Messersmith was named to the N.L. All-Star team, the third time he has received all-star honors. One of the game's toughest competitors and best all-around performers, he received his second straight Golden Glove for fielding excellence.

Hooton found himself after joining the Dodgers on May 2. With the Chicago Cubs he was 0-2 with an 8.18 earned run average.

Traded to the Dodgers for pitchers Geoff Zahn and Eddie Solomon, the 26-year-old Texas native turned it around immediately.

Hooton won 18 while losing only seven while posting a 2.81 ERA. He fanned 148 and walked 64.

In August, he was unbeatable, going 6-0 with a 1.06 earned run average. He was named National League Pitcher of the Month and went on to duplicate the achievement in September en route to winning his last 12 games in a row.

At Dodger Stadium, Hooton lost only three games and did not lose there after July 1.

Two men, contact lenses proved to be a big help in Hooton's turnaround. The contact lenses helped him pick up the plate better and also helped his concentration.

Pitching coach Red Adams corrected two flaws in Hooton's delivery and hypnotist Arthur Ellen gave him a 20-minute session.

"I came away relaxed, calm and assured of what I could do," says Hooton. "He helped to rid me of all my negative thoughts."

We know what the world of long ago was like by studying fossils. A fossil is the record or remains of a plant or animal that lived in the past. Fossils are made by nature in many ways. Some fossil "bones" are made of rock. An animal, perhaps a dinosaur, died and fell into a swamp and was covered with mud. After a time, only the hard bones remained. Later, underground water slowly dissolved the bones and filled the empty spaces with rock-making materials. The rock had the exact shape of the dinosaur bones. At some time in these thousands of years the mud above the remains of the dinosaur also hardened into rock. Some fossils are the actual bones of animals which were preserved when they became trapped in sticky tar pits. Many fossils are simply a cast or print that shows the shape of a plant buried ages ago or the footprints prehistoric animals left in soft mud which later hardened into rock. Here's wonderful news! A pocket radio, camera, World Almanac globe or other line prize will be awarded to the first youngster sending a question used here. Send your question and your age to Johnny Wonder, c/o this newspaper, Box 1335 (DA), Santa Cruz, CA 95061.

BERNICE BEDE OSOL
For Sunday, March 7

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Be careful today so thoughtless remarks won't slip out that another may find offensive, even though you didn't intend them to be so.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) It's possible that you could be careless today in small financial transactions. Count your change. Keep sales slips.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Today you could feel you want to dominate the conversation. Remember: We also learn by listening.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) It may be hard for you today to hold back from repeating some information told you in confidence. Best you don't.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) So you won't be bored to tears today, avoid the company of a friend who does a lot of talking but seldom has anything to say.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If won't be the big things today that others will find fault with. It could be something trivial that may hurt your image.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Before announcing your plans prematurely today, stop and consider whether the person you're talking with should know them.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Avoid discussing family topics today that have a tendency to get everyone up tight. No use ruining a pleasant day.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Rather than drop in unexpectedly on someone, call first to be sure this person doesn't have other plans.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Be sure what you volunteer to do for another today doesn't have some hidden costs that could be easily overlooked.

Kidney treatment center on display

The public is invited to inspect San Bernardino County Medical Center's new 12-station renal dialysis unit at an open house on Sunday.

The center is at 780 E. Gilbert St., San Bernardino. The 1 to 5 p.m. open house will include tours of the new facility and demonstrations of the various medical equipment and facilities by renal unit personnel.

Responding to the community's need for treatment facilities for patients with kidney failure, the unit opened in 1970 with two hemodialysis machines, a limited staff and several patients with chronic renal failure.

The unit has now grown to its new size of 12, hemodialysis machines and a staff of 16 nurses and technicians, delivering chronic hemodialysis to over 50 patients.

The new unit is located in Building H at the County Medical Center, across from the hospital's emergency entrance. Patients come to the unit two or three times weekly for their six-hour treatment sessions and then return to their usual daily activities at home.

Treatment with the artificial kidney machine (hemodialysis) is reserved for individuals suffering from either acute and reversible kidney failure or chronic and irreversible kidney failure.

Almanac

By The Associated Press

Today is Saturday, March 6, the 66th day of 1976. There are 300 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1836, the Alamo in San Antonio, Tex., fell to a Mexican force after a 13-day siege. Davy Crockett and all the other defenders were killed.

On this date — In 1475, the Renaissance artist Michelangelo was born in Caprese, Italy.

In 1857, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that a slave, Dred Scott, could not sue for his freedom in a Federal court.

In 1945, during World War II, the German city of Cologne fell to the U.S. 1st Army.

In 1957, the former British African colonies of the Gold Coast and Togoland became the independent state of Ghana.

In 1953, Georgi Malenkov became Soviet premier after the death of Josef Stalin.

In 1974, President Richard Nixon, in a televised new conference, denied he had ever approved hush money or clemency for the Watergate defendants.

Ten years ago: A Miami jury found Candace Mossler and newphew Melvin Powers innocent of the murder of her multimillionaire husband, Jacques Mossler.

Five years ago: South Vietnamese forces which had invaded Laos to try to cut off the Ho Chi Minh supply line reported capturing a key hub, Sepone.

One year ago: Iran and Iraq issued a joint communique saying they had agreed to end a long-standing border dispute.

Today's birthday: Conductor Julius Rudel is 55. Thought for today: If winter comes, can spring be far behind — Percy Shelley, English poet, 1792-1822.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, the American General who had led the occupation of Dorchester Heights outside British-occupied Boston, General John Thomas, was put in charge of the colonial force trying to capture Quebec, Canada.

Red, white, blue caskets

Patriotic burials for Bicentennial

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Earl Walker Jr. had no idea when he spread patriotic colors over one of his firm's caskets that his Bicentennial novelty would mushroom into a major funeral home attraction.

"They're not selling like hotcakes," the president of the Jackson Casket Co. said Thursday. "But we've sold quite a few of them and we've got quite a few back orders."

The Bicentennial casket is a soft blend of transparent scarlet and midnight blue, set off with white trimmings. Gold stars decorate the corner hardware and it's topped off with a small flag.

The idea might be called award-winning. It was honored at the Non-Buycentennial Celebration Feb. 29 in Luckenbach, Tex., as a one of several products that "exceeded all others in their abuse and vulgarity of the Bicentennial."

Walker, whose father started the casket business in 1942, said his firm produced the first Bicentennial casket last June as a novelty item for display at a meeting of funeral home directors.

"We sold several at the time but demand really picked up about two months ago," he said. "You never know what people are going to buy, and that would include autos or caskets and sometimes we're surprised when things catch on."

Walker said the firm had sold the caskets in several states, including more than 20 to one funeral home in San Antonio, Tex.

Wendell Stringer of Crystal Springs, Miss., is president of a funeral home which is awaiting delivery of a first red, white and blue model.

"I had some inquiries and decided to go ahead and order one," Stringer said. "In our community we have a lot of older patriotic citizens and any time there is an interest in something like this we put it in stock."

Stringer said the casket isn't flashy, and added, "I think it'll probably go over well."

He said the attitudes about funerals and death had changed in recent years.

"We're getting more and more away from the old traditions as far as everything being solemn," he said. "Ten years ago something like this probably would have been laughed at."

Paternity law changed; suit filed

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The district attorney's office has filed what may be the first lawsuit in California under the state's new paternity law.

The law allows more than one man to be named as the father of an illegitimate child.

The suit was filed Monday against two 21-year-old San Diego men, said Deputy Dist. Atty. Albert Wells.

Before, many men had avoided paying child support by having friends testify that they might be the child's father, Bell said. Now, anyone who says that can be sued as a codefendant and possibly forced to make support payments, he said.

'Crime won't be reduced' L.A. heroin problem gets worse each year

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The problem of heroin addiction in Los Angeles County has worsened every year for the past 15 years, according to a study released here Friday.

Dr. Forest S. Tennant Jr. said his compilation of data showed that "despite the many billions of dollars spent on law enforcement, treatment and education, this general trend has not been reversed."

Tennant, assistant professor at the UCLA school of public health, said at a news conference that he believes the findings mean drug-related crimes will continue to increase.

"This means crime probably won't be reduced much, particularly crimes associated with addiction such as burglary, shoplifting, and check forgeries," he said.

Tennant said in an interview afterwards that the study reveals a general inability to prevent people from turning to heroin.

"This doesn't mean

these efforts 'to curb drug abuse' have been totally ineffective," he said. "Without them, the heroin use increase could have been much worse."

"One of our recommendations is that we need to concentrate more on prevention of heroin usage," he added.

Tennant was joined at the news conference by Stuart Snyder, director of the state office of Narcotics and Drug Abuse.

Tennant said other studies have showed that those who eventually become heroin addicts tend to be young teenagers who use cigarettes, alcohol, coffee or marijuana.

"We need to reduce the glamorous incentives in society to use these substances and also to identify these children and work with their psychological problems," he said. He noted such youths frequently come from broken or troubled homes.

Tennant, executive director of the nonprofit

Community Health Projects, Inc. of West Covina, said his corporation did the study for less than $5,000, using a grant from Public Health Foundation of Los Angeles County.

He criticized what he called "the general resistance to evaluating drug abuse efforts" because he said such studies — if they revealed programs were not working — threatened jobs.

"This data was available, but no one wanted to put it together," he said. "The government wasn't interested."

He said his findings were based on 1960-1975 data on narcotics death rates, arrests, prison and parole referrals, admissions to hospital emergency rooms and heroin treatment programs, hepatitis rates, and the year people said they began using heroin.

He said his study was the first which analyzed available data over a period as long as 15 years.

In California

Actual number of unemployed rises, but jobless rate dips

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The jobless rate in California dropped from 9.9 per cent in January to 9.5 per cent in February, but the number of unemployed actually increased, state officials said Friday.

The rate was seasonally adjusted and total unemployment increased by 25,900 to 1,012,700, the Employment Development Department said.

The increase was less than normal for this time of year, so the adjusted rate declined.

California unemployment remained well above the national rate, which dropped from 7.8 per cent to 7.6 per cent of the work force last month.

The number of employed in the state rose 8,500 in February to 8,386,700, an increase of 85,700 above the same month last year.

There were more jobs in service industries, government, education and manufacturing, but seasonal losses of jobs in trade, construction, transportation and utilities.

The department reported a sizeable reduction in unemployment insurance claims, 796,000 in mid-February compared to 735,000 a year ago.

Of the 796,000, there were 493,004 under the regular state insurance program. The others received benefits under federal emergency or special assistance programs adopted in 1975.

The mid-January number of claimants for state unemployment insurance was 464,537.

Both figures were below the 571,994 persons under the California unemployment insurance program in February of last year.

The rest of the unemployed consisted mainly of persons ineligible for unemployment benefits because they sought jobs for the first time.

3 KKKs indicted for murder of black 19 years ago

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Three reputed Ku Klux Klansmen were indicted Friday on first-degree murder charges in the death of a black truck driver 19 years ago.

Dist. Atty. James H. "Jimmy" Evans said the three white Montgomery men, currently free on $25,000 bond each, will be arraigned March 15 with a May trial date to be set later.

The defendants are Sonny Kyle Livingston, 38, Henry Alexander, 46, and James York, 73.

They are charged with forcing 25-year-old Willie Edwards Jr. to leap at gunpoint into the Alabama River while he sobbed and begged for his life on the night of Jan. 23, 1957.

Edwards' body was found three months later in the river in adjoining Lowndes County.

The grand jury, composed of four blacks and 14 whites, handed down the indictments as a result of what Atty. Gen. Bill Baxley called a renewed investigation into "several unsolved civil rights murders" in Alabama.

Baxley contends that "a carload of Ku Klux Klansmen" abducted Edwards after another black truck driver supposedly "smiled at" a white woman. He said the Klansmen apparently got Edwards by mistake and forced him to jump to his death from the Tyler Goodwin Bridge on the outskirts of Montgomery.

An admitted former Klansman, Raymond C. Britt Jr., 44, testified during a preliminary hearing that he and the three defendants laylaid Edwards and forced him at gunpoint to leap into the river.

Britt said Livingston, Alexander and York belonged to the Klan and all thought the black truck driver had made "accusations against a white woman."

Another witness, state investigator Tom Ward, said Livingston, a bail bondsman in Montgomery, had told him recently that he was present when Edwards was forced to jump to his death. Ward said it was Livingston's remark which triggered the renewed full-scale investigation.

The killing took place during a time of racial unrest in Montgomery following the integration of the city bus system by a federal court. Less than two weeks before Edwards' disappearance, four black churches and the homes of two prointegration ministers were bombed.

Two found guilty of murders

SAN BERNARDINO (AP) — Two Orange County men have been convicted of the fatal shooting of a federal informant and another man, ending a trial that lasted four months.

Guilty verdicts were handed down Thursday against Donald Blansett, 32, of Garden Grove, and Richard Weissman, 34, of Huntington Beach. The two were convicted of the murders of John Gressman, 39, and Norman Olsey, 28.

The bodies of Gressman, of Orange, and Olsey, of Garden Grove, were found in shallow graves, each mutilated to hinder identification, authorities said.

Testimony indicated that Gressman had been an informant for the Treasury Department, and had been supplying federal authorities information on the defendants' alleged trafficking in illegal weapons.

Doc Peirsol

It happened in Pomona

How did most men in Pomona regard women liberationists back around the turn of the century? Well, if the attitude of one of Pomona's leading newspaper editors of that era is any indication, the answer would have to be, not too fondly. For while, like most of the male population of Pomona, that editor was undoubtedly an outstanding gentleman, still he just wasn't about to admit that pushy women shouldn't be put in their place. In fact, on Aug. 1, 1904, right on the editorial page of his newspaper, The Pomona Daily Review, he publicly chastised a militant female who was at that time perhaps the pushiest woman in America. Without fear or favor, he told her off in a manner that undoubtedly gladdened the hearts of all his male chauvinist readers who, it would be safe to assert, constituted the not too silent majority of the males in this community.

"The telegraph tells us," he wrote, "that a Kentuckian knocked down Carrie Nation after she had twice smashed a cigarette from his mouth. This is a hard story to be told of a Kentuckian — who is generally loaded up to the guards with chivalry — but hail he from where he may, we extend him a plenary absolution. This robust female blackguard has for once played a game of diamond cut diamond."

Shelby Lyman on chess

'One-armed bandit' wins

A grandmaster of chess, known for his frequent unreasonableness, was visiting a gambling house in Las Vegas, when he suddenly found himself in a room of 'one-armed bandits.'

Immediately he tried his luck on these contraptions, but within a short period, his pockets were substantially emptier. Now irritated beyond good sense, he summoned the manager of the casino.

"Clear the room of everyone," he demanded. "I wish to play all your machines at once."

And so he did. Grabbing lever after lever, he assaulted his stoical adversaries at breakneck speed.

Inevitably, the clanging and whirring of metal ceased. His pockets bare, our hero had finished the only losing simultaneous exhibition of his career.

In the shadow of Fischer Bill Lombardy, presently U.S. Open co-champion, first came to the attention of the American public-at-large during the 1972 Fischer-Spassky match. Who, many wondered, was this enigmatic chess-playing priest selected by Bobby Fischer as his second. The spotlight, ever focused on Fischer, revealed almost nothing of Lombardy's own "secret" chess life.

Three and one-half years have passed. Still, few outside the chess community realize that Bill is one of the greatest chess talents ever developed in America. Nor are many aware of the accomplishments that back this reputation.

In 1957 for example, Lombardy at age 19, became World Junior Champion. In only a few more years, he had gathered for himself two gold and one silver medal as a member of various U.S. Olympic chess teams.

The most memorable of these medal-winning achievements was his 1960 win over Boris Spassky in the Leningrad Student Olympics. His victory in that game sparked his team to a match-win over the Soviets and to the coveted world title.

Below is the crucial point of that game.

See how Lombardy, beginning with 24... RxR forced the win of a piece and Spassky's resignation. A great moment for any chess player!

Independence Hall timber

Bicentennial offering is chip off old block

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "This is a valid memento. I don't think it's crass or tacky," says Benjamin Doroff, a department store executive. His store's latest bicentennial offering: wood chips said to be from Independence Hall's original timbers.

The chips are one-half inch by a half-inch, mounted on silk, in a display case the size of a stenographer's pad, with a metal plate saying: "Authentic wood chip from original beam Independdence Hall, Philadelphia."

The John Wanamaker Store recently bought 10,000 of the chips and is selling them in its Bicentennial shop and stationery department. A Long Island, N.Y., lawyer said the chips are from a group of a dozen beams which he bought about a year and a half ago.

Burnes Co., a Boston picture frame company involved in producing the chips, said, "We don't know how many we have because we haven't cut them all up yet."

The picture frame company entered the picture when Doroff was asked how the chips' authenticity had been checked. Gordon asserted, "We have it authenticated all the way down the line."

Advertising doll worth about $100

QUESTION: I recently inherited a "Buddy Lee" doll and would like to know more about its manufacturer and value. The doll is in mint condition, and until now, probably has never been out of the original box. J.G. (South)

ANSWER: The going price for Buddy Lee dolls like yours in this condition with original clothing, ranges from $80, up to around $100.

First produced during the early 1920s, the dolls with their side-glancing eyes and mischievous grin, are among our most desirable advertising collectibles. The dolls were designed to promote products made by the H.D. Lee Company, and their production continued well into the 1960s. They were dressed in a variety of different type uniforms and work clothes, all manufactured by the Lee Company with the exception of their caps, which were purchased from an outside source.

Original examples were made of a fragile plaster substance which broke easily, but during the 1940s, a new mold was adopted, using a hard plastic substance similar to celluloid. It is these examples that are virtually unbreakable. The earlier dolls (Turn to Page 5, Col. 1)

Students limber up in CalArts' theater school

Another Disney dream coming true...

The glittering towers and colorful pennants of Disneyland in Anaheim and Walt Disney World near Orlando, Fla., are landmarks left to American culture by the Chicago-born cartoonist who ran an animated mouse into a multimillion dollar empire, but the most lasting monument left by the King of Cartoons is California Institute of the Arts in Valencia.

CalArts, as it is commonly called, was a long-time dream of Disney's, a modern, unconventional institution embracing all of the visual and performing arts. It was based on a merger by two prestigious and well-established Los Angeles institutions, the Los Angeles Conservatory of Music, founded in 1883, and Chouinard Art Institution, founded in 1921. With students and faculty of the two schools as a nucleus, CalArts was incorporated in 1961 — the first degree-granting institution in America designed exclusively for students of all the arts. Dance, film-video and theater departments were added to art, design and music in the ensuing years.

Unhappily, Walt Disney did not live to see the fruition of his dream. He died in 1966, before the institution was fully launched. But he left a priceless legacy, and he left 45 per cent of his vast estate to assure that the legacy will be continued. (Disney's family and corporate interests have poured more than $50 million into CalArts.)

In 1971 faculty and students moved to their new campus on 60 acres cresting a hill overlooking the community of Valencia, some 40 minutes from downtown Los Angeles. The principal building is the artistic-academic complex, a sprawling five-story structure that houses studios for art and design, electronics music workshops, dance studios, rehearsal rooms, theaters, costume shop, galleries, editing rooms, sound and video stages, library, bookstore, cafeteria and offices. Nearby is the only other building, the residence hall, with tennis courts and swimming pool.

Today CalArts has some 700 students, including about 140 graduate students and a faculty of 69 fulltime and 68 part-time members. More than half of the students receive some form of financial aid.

CalArts introduces talented students into a realm of individuality, academic freedom and esthetic discipline under such notables as theater director Robert Benedetti, artist Stephen von Huene, choreographer Donald McKayle, prima ballerina Mia Slavenska, film writer-director Alexander Mackendrick, musicologist Nicholas England, pianist Leonid Hambro, composer Morton Subotnick and conductor Gerhard Samuel.

The results of the program, even in the few short years of the school's existence, are impressive. From the art galleries of San Francisco to the theaters of New York and Washington, the work of CalArts graduates has received critical acclaim. Young dancers have joined major ballet and modern dance companies; painters, sculptors and graphic artists have had one-man shows throughout the nation; film makers have been invited to movie festivals, and singers and instrumentalists have performed with leading orchestras and opera companies.

Students have won prizes in national competitions in a variety of arts, and many have been awarded scholarships and fellowships for further study in the United States and Europe after graduation.

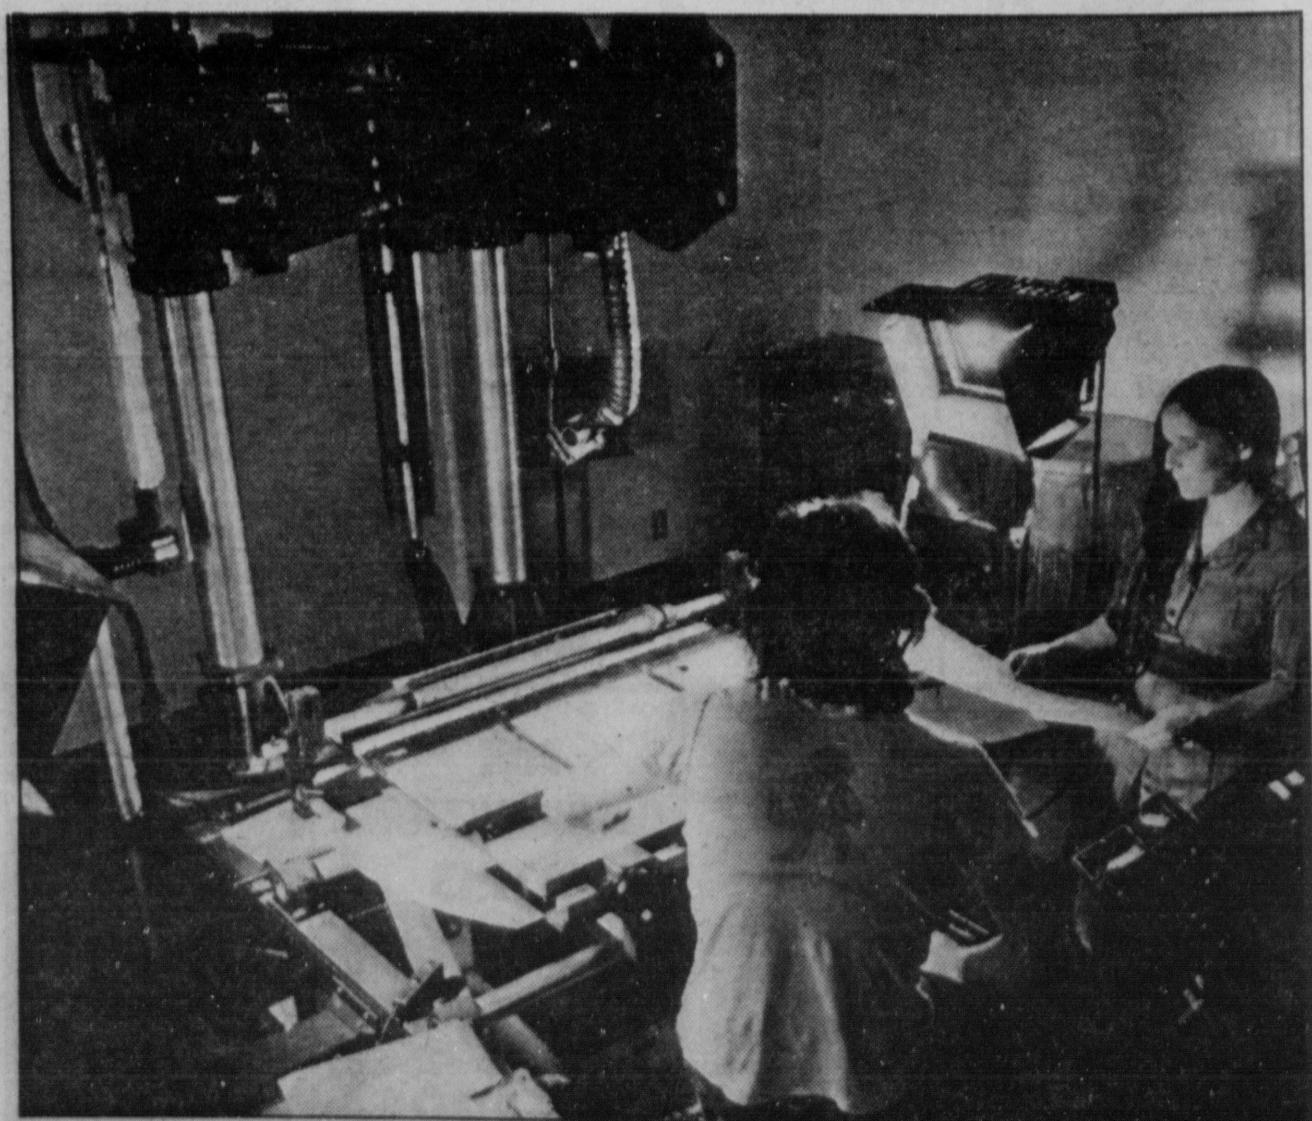

At the helm of the new art institute is its second president, 35-year-old Robert J. Fitzpatrick, former dean of students at Johns Hopkins University. Last year Time Magazine named him among the 200 Americans under 45 most capable of assuming leadership roles.

Story by Joseph H. Firman
PB staff writer

In his message to incoming students, Fitzpatrick describes the philosophy of CalArts:

"You will find the atmosphere of CalArts unique. The artistic-academic program was designed to be as open and free as possible. A deliberate effort was made to avoid artificial limitations and academic bureaucracy. The program stresses quality and individual instruction. CalArts aims at setting the creative imagination free through the mastery of art disciplines and the acquiring of technique. We insist that students know 'how to' rather than merely 'know about' . . . CalArts is a demanding institution. It demands talent, discipline and intense dedication to one's art form. It challenges you to be open, to be vulnerable, to feel strongly, to sense, to create."

The challenges are being met. Disney's dream is coming true.

ON THE COVER

Walt Disney's dream of a modern college embracing all the arts is coming true today in the California Institute of the Arts at Valencia. Incorporated in 1961, funded by Disney and his family, the college has some 700 students studying with leading artists and performers. At top, two students perform in a dance production, while others are at work in the electronics laboratory of the school of music. Below is the principal building of CalArts.

were unmarked, but later ones can be identified with the raised letters "Buddy Lee" across the back. And it will be of interest to note that the dolls originally sold for $13.50 a dozen, and retailed for $2.50-$3 each.

QUESTION: The enclosed sketch shows an antique seat resembling a double chair, having a double woven rush seat and slat back. It is in reasonably good condition with the exception of the finish (red paint) which is worn through on the used areas. We believe the wood to be pine. It was purchased for the sum of $25 at a farm auction here last fall. We would like to know the purpose of this unusual chair, and anything else you can tell us about it, including a value. N.J. (West)

ANSWER: You have a desirable early wagon seat, and prices for those in very good condition with original rush seats and finish, are priced from around the $200 figure, up. These removable seats were placed in the front of the wagon, and when not in use served as a double-chair in the home. Only the wealthy were fortunate enough to have carriages, while others rode in wagons on trips to church and shopping.

QUESTION: Could you give me some idea of the age and value of a figural bowl, handed down from my grandmother. On the underside, is an impressed crown, and below that in an oval the word "AMPHORA", the word "Austria" and a number. The cherub rests on the side of this basket-like bowl. At the highest point it is 4 1/2 inches high, and 9 inches long. It is in perfect condition but could use some cleaning. Can this be done without harming the pottery? L.R.W. (Southeast)

ANSWER: Certainly. The Amphora Porcelain Works, located in the Tepitz-Turn area of Bohemia, produced in quantity decorative pottery items during the late Victorian period for the American market. Pieces like you have described are usually priced around $65-$75 in your area.

QUESTION: I am enclosing a drawing of an item I recently bought at a rummage sale. I will greatly appreciate any information you can give me and the value of this piece. The person selling it said it was made of metal and silver-plated, which has worn off in areas. It can be used at the dinner table to rest the carving knife between the petals of the flowers. It is approximately 7 inches long, 2 1/2 inches from the top of the small squirrel's head to the table, and squirrel measures 1 1/2 inches. S.P.M. (East)

ANSWER: You have an interesting knife rest, but in its present condition it is of little value to a collector. If resilvered, its value would be about $25.

QUESTION: Our interest lies in dolls produced by the American market. Can you direct me to a source of information showing the different trademarks, along with the patent dates of American dolls? Mrs. G.E.C. (South)

ANSWER: Spinning Wheel's Complete Book of Dolls (Everybody's Press, Hanover, Pennsylvania, $7.95), lists trademarks of dolls from 1913-1950. This publication is a must for the doll collector, as it contains a wealth of information selected from the best of 30 years of Spinning Wheel articles in this field. It covers not only the rare types, but the not so rare . . . inexpensive dolls, and those made of porcelain, bisque, rubber, wax, plastic, wood, paper, apples, nuts, corn husks, metals, composition, rags . . . dolls that talk and walk.

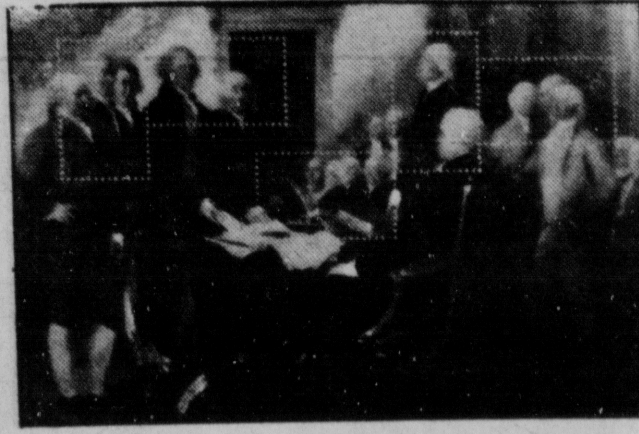

Moreover, many costumes are described in detail, in addition to doll furnishings. And finally, the book includes articles about some of the well-known museums open to the public — and articles by outstanding authors in the field.

Sales firms that... ...pamper the buyer

The Roman Villa Mobile Home Estates, a handsome modern-living complex at the foot of the snow-capped San Gabriel Mountains, will hold its grand opening this weekend. The program will include a tour of the facilities at 9800 Base Line Road, Alta Loma, open house and refreshments.

Cooperating closely with Ramona Villa in the event is a major mobile homes agency, the family-owned Upland Mobile Homes at 1425 W. Foothill Blvd., Upland. Many of the Upland firm's units will be on display at the park.

Ramona Villa is a gracious community of mobile homes in the charge of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stuart, professionally trained managers with many years of experience. It is an adults-only (18 and over) estate in a quiet, rural atmosphere far from noisy highways.

Activities at Ramona Villa center around the spacious, well-equipped clubhouse with its plush lounge and library with fireplace. There is a large recreation hall with three regulation-sized billiard tables and other game equipment, a card and poker room and a fully equipped kitchen.

Ramona Villa also boasts a heated pool, a therapeutic pool, and saunas for men and women. Like a modern country club, the park provides a regular schedule of planned social activities. Also available to residents are a car wash, a pet run, storage areas, and laundry with drying yard.

With off-street parking, attractive landscaping and utilities underground, Ramona Villa is a quiet center for relaxed and gracious living.

Upland Mobile Homes is headed by Phil Valvo Sr. and his son-in-law, Dan Berman. Phil Valvo Jr. is sales and service coordinator, and Louise Rogers and Doris Swihart handle re-sales.

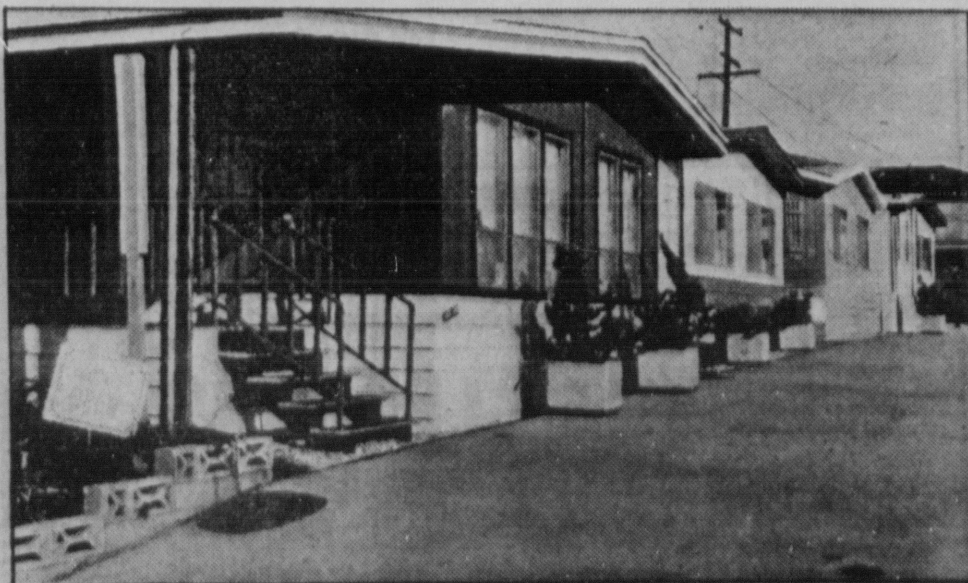

The family firm has earned an impressive reputation since opening in 1972. Valvo and Berman stress family-type relationships with their customers, feeling that each buyer should have a say in everything from the color to the parksites. The company also has a well-equipped service department that delivers and sets up the home, carpets and services it.

Upland Mobile Homes has a display of models, ranging in price from $8,500 to $31,500. The price includes carpeting, drapes and kitchen appliances. The models are elaborately furnished and decorated in a variety of styles. The company also offers many optional features, including awnings, skirting, air-conditioning and raised porches. Each home is delivered and set up within a radius of 100 miles.

Among the lines handled by Upland Mobile Homes are Key Biscaine, Key West, Calypso and Somerset by Golden West Homes; Viking, La Paz and Homette and the recently added Fireball and Invader travel trailers and Fireball Mini-Motor Homes.

The slogan at Upland Mobile Homes is courtesy and thoughtfulness, according to Valvo and Berman. Salesmen do not use high pressure methods and are willing to spend time with the buyer, no matter how small the purchase.

The models at Upland Mobile Homes are open for inspection daily and are ready for immediate delivery.

Variety of models are available at Upland firm.

Chamber Singers in historic trek

The Bonita High School Chamber Singers, under the direction of Thomas Antal, will represent California in one of a series of concerts sponsored by the Music Educators' National Conference and National Capital Parks Service, as part of our nation's bicentennial celebration.

They will perform in the Ellipse of the President's Park, adjacent to the White House, in Washington, D.C. on Saturday, June 26.

In addition, they will present a program for Freedom's Foundation at Valley Forge. Plans are being made for this group to tour and participate in bicentennial celebrations in such cities as Boston, Mass.; Bristol, R.I.; Philadelphia, Pa.; New York City, N.Y.; and Williamsburg and Jamestown, Va.

The Chamber Singers are now preparing their bicentennial program, which will consist of 60-90 minutes of the music of different American regions and historical periods.

The program will show America as diversified in musical culture, and yet unified under the constitution and by great ideals.

The group will be accompanied by a combo of instruments and wear special bicentennial outfits. It is the singers hope to experience first-hand the history of the United States at a time when that history is being remembered and relived in the places where great events took place.

The group is backed by an active Parents' Association, which is busy planning many activities to provide sponsorship for this trip and to assure that the trip provides a rewarding educational experience for the students.

Teens abuse alcohol

Alcohol abuse is reaching epidemic proportions among teens in the United States. Experts estimate that there are 450,000 to 500,000 young people who have serious or potentially serious problems with alcohol.

Dr. Morris Chafetz, former director of the National Institute of Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism says in the March issue of "Seventeen":

"One in three teen-agers drinks with some regularity, and almost nine percent of kids between the ages of 12 and 17 overdose with alcohol at least once a week."

Is it possible to know in advance who will become a problem drinker?

Most experts agree that there is no such thing as an alcoholic personality. Anyone who drinks may someday have a problem. But Alan Herzlin, director of special projects at Freeport Hospital's Alcoholic Treatment Center in Long Island, N.Y., says a positive response to certain questions may signal the start of an alcoholic problem.

For Example: Do I drink one or more times a week? Before breakfast? Do I have problems with school because of alcohol? Do I hang around with people who think it's smart to get drunk? Must I have a drink to go on a date or to a party? Do I find that I cannot have fun without a drink?

If drinking has made me sick, do I do it again the next time anyway? Do I undergo a marked personality change after I've had a couple? Has drinking become more important than eating? Am I thinking about alcohol most of the time?

Alcohol is not a stimulant. It's a depressant. It does not warm the body. Black coffee or a shower won't sober you up. It is untrue that few women become alcoholics. During the 1950s, there were five to six alcoholic men to every alcoholic woman, but the ratio now is only three to one.

"Drinking as a teen-ager might not hurt you now," says Dr. Ross Fishman, director of education and training at the New York City Affiliate of the National Council on Alcoholism. "But later you can develop problems."

He lists some of the effects of chronic alcohol abuse as vitamin deficiency, malnutrition, liver disease, gastritis and eye and brain damage.

Happy song of Bernardette

By DICK KLEINER

1975 was a smashing year for Bernardette Peters, and she thinks '76 will be even better.

"Since I made my nightclub debut last March," she says, "everything has come up roses. I've had big TV guest shots on McCoy, McCloud, a couple of Norman Lear's shows, Carol Burnett. I've done a couple of movies — "W.C. Fields and Me" and "Vigilante Force." And on and on."

Her success may be because these days when most actresses look like they've been stamped out of a mold, Bernardette Peters is unique. With her round face, butter-cup lips and Betty Boop voice, she looks like she stepped right out of the '30s.

Everybody is after her these days. She just signed to play "the dirtiest vamp of them all" in Mel Brooks' "Silent Movie." And she has a deal with CBS, whereby they will offer her three scripts and she can pick the one she wants to do.

She's been singing and acting for years, despite her youth. She comes from Ozone Park, on Long Island, and she began participating in kiddie shows in New York. For a few years, when she was in high school, she quit performing, then realized she really did like it. So, she started taking lessons on her own and pretty soon she was back in it again. Most of us are very glad. She's refreshing.

Same pay

On June 3, 1974, the Supreme Court ruled women who do the same work as men are entitled to the same pay rates.

Rehabilitation Founded in 1867

Crucial factors in successful vocational rehabilitation are personal courage and support from family, friends and employers.

Phoenix, capital of Arizona, was founded in 1867 and succeeded Prescott as territorial capital in 1889. Arizona became a state in 1912.
